Dear Griffin,

Thank you for sharing your story about faith, courage and Cancer. You prove that a road paved with uncertainty and trial can lead us to lessons of perseverance and trust.

Surrounding you in hope,
Jenni

Griffin's Sand Tray: Faith

When I was diagnosed, I felt upside down.

This is me during my Cancer. The bridge is my Cancer journey. The lion stands for God who is always fighting with you and the footprints mean He is always walking beside you.

The red is the torture I walked through during my Cancer.

The bridge means everything will be okay. I walk from the Cancer side to the side with the light and faith where everything is going to be okay.
